

TalkIQ

Smart Conversations on Leadership in Business, Technology & Finance

Join us for our Second Annual TalkIQ program, a series of fireside chats with women thought-leaders and renowned investors, executives and entrepreneurs.

We are pleased to announce the 2023 edition of TalkIQ, a series of curated conversations with renowned women trailblazers to help untangle complexity, identify trends, and codify skills necessary to succeed in today's fast-moving, tech-enabled world buffeted by economic headwinds.

Each online event will include a discussion on market dynamics, short- and long-term investment opportunities, and key lessons on the mental models, analytical mindsets, and effective leadership methods essential to adapt to and thrive in turbulent times.

For our Spring 2023 program, we will feature four events with outstanding investors, all with prior multidisciplinary operational and entrepreneurial experiences. See the schedule below for dates and times for each of our events.

TalkIQ is conceived, planned, and moderated by Columbia Prof. R.A. Farrokhnia, and is brought to you by Columbia Business School's Advanced Projects and Applied Research in Fintech and Executive Education. Events are open to public, including students, alumni, and business professionals.
